rial contest committee, I have said but nected with the committee's work, but view of certain publications lately made about me, I deem it proper to make the following statement:

Judge Maxwell, my calleague, and myseif are in no wise responsible for the delay in the call for the extra extra sextra season that been called as early as September 20 or October I, we would have been ready with such report as we dealer to make.

Up to September 10, the time of the adjournment from Terra Alta, the committee had done its work faithfully. As mittee had done its work faithfully. As to what has been the cause of or reason for the delay in the preparation of the report that at that time Messra. Kee, Spring and Lively intended to make jointly, as I understood, I do not know, or do I pretend to say. I do not desire to be understood as reflecting upon them in the least. I only say that Judge Maxwell and myself have not been responsible for their delay in preparing their report; that we have thrown no obstacle in their way; that it has not been within our power to do so, and that so far as I In their way; that it has not been within our mover to do so, and that so far as I am concerned I have never desired any time is which to examine their report after it is written. What the reasons for the delay are, or how satisfactory they are to those concerned, I do not persume to speak about, not having knowledge on that subject.

which has been gravely published as a fact, that two members of a committee of five are to be held responsible for its alleged misdoings. I have taken Governor Wilson for a gentleman of at least common intelligence, or I would have sent him word long ago not to wait on the minority of the Contest Committee to request him to do so before issning his call for the extra session of the Legislature. At any rate, let it be understood here and now, once for all time, that so far as I am concerned he can issue his proclamation for the purpose named immediately, as he might have done over two months ago, and can set the date for the session just as early as pleases him, and I think that Judge Maxwell agrees with me in this statement. Yours respectfully, P. W. Monnes. Harrieville, Ritchie county, W. Va., Nov. 18, 1889.

Responds Happily to the Toast to the Honorary Members-He Answers the Question, "What Shall we Do with Our Ex-Presidents.

NEW YORK, Nov. 19 .- The Chamber f Commerce gave its annual banquet at had on his right ex-President Cleveland and on his left Hon. John W. Noble. Others at the tables were Hon. Samuel Miller, Gen. Sherman, Chauncey M. Depew, Hon. Wm. McKinley, jr., Carl Schurz, Gen. O. O. Howard, Hon. Ed-ward J. Phelps and Frank Hiscock, Roswell P. Flower, Horace and Henry Vilard. The first toast "The President of the United States," was drunk in silence.

the United States," was drunk in silence.

The second toast "Our Honorary Members," was responded to by exPresident Cleveland. After thanking the Chamber of Commiree for the honor it had cenferred upon him in making him an honorary member, he said that the business of the country was its life bloed. Those who understood its laws and its operations were better able to perform their duty as citizens than they otherwise could. A good government was best measured by business tests. Hence, the greater the number of business men who are engaged in administering the affairs of State the greater will be the efficiency of the government. There should be more business men in our national administrations.

Mr. Cleveland stated that there was an abundance of good material available which was now going to waste. Many of the evils of public life would, in his opinion, speedily disappear if business men would take greater interest in public affairs. Mr. Cleveland said that there had been a great deal of discussion lately ever the question, "What shall we do with our ex-Presidents." He hoped that the country would not take the advice of an Illinois editor who recommended that they should be shot. He suggested that the best way of disposing of them is to let them slone and give them a chance to earn their bread in peace.

Edward J. Phelpa, ex-Miniater to England, responded to the toast, "Commerce the Ally of Good Government, the Offspring of National Prosperity."

During his talk Mr. Phelps said commerce was the combined harvest of all industries. The general prosperty of the country was the greatest gift. "In the proportion that industry is successful, commerce and finance must be prosperous. Commerce might be said to be the principal author of good Government and it is the earnest and efficient influence of the commercial interest in which this chamber had its share that we gave the initial steps that were taken towards the formation of the Constitution of the United States. Wherein we gave the initial steps that were taken towards the formation of the Constitution of the United States. Wherein does good government differ from bad government? Are these governments anything after all but great business concerns? The first need of good government, like the first need of large business corporation, is the right man to administer it. Give us men in places of public trust, great or small."

It was after midnight before the speeches were concluded.
